WE regret very much to have to record the death of Lieut. E. M. Loring, of the Royal Engineere, a very popular young officer who will be greatly missed not only by his brother-officers but by many friends in the colony. Mr Loring had been ill for about a mouth, and until two or three days ago it was not supposed that he would not recover. Although he had not been long in the colony Mr Loring was well-known, particularly to those who take an interest in cricket and football, in both of which games he could always give a good account of himself... By his own corps, with whom he was a great favourite, his death is deeply deployed. The

Fanny Stanley will take her benefit to-night when the Stanley Company will play ! Shee.' This popular burlesque is the one in which the Company makes the greatest hit, and not the least striking feature about it is the sprightly acting and tasteful singing of this deservedly popular young actress. In the drama Struck Gil last night, Miss Stanley made another excellent appearance and gave evidence that her conscientions carnestaces is likely to enable her to become an actress of much ability, Mr Driscoll was again prominent in a low comedy character which suited him, and in other Well Road, Shanghai, the wife of Lewis respects 'Struck Oil' was treated satisfautorily by the other members of the Company
